

I strongly urge the FCC to reject NAB's petition 04-160. My wif and I both have XM Satellite radio and listen to it exclusively as our radio source for news, information , weather and music while on the road and during our business trave. XM radio provides variety and quality that is not available through local radio stations. This is an outrageous affront to the first amendment and to my rights to listen to what I want and what I pay for. Is the FCC next going to l imit what I watch on satellite TV?
